

Aging Well

FREE WORKSHOP!

Date: February 21st, 2017

Time: 12:00 - 3:30 PM

Location: 312 McMillan Avenue, Fraser Lake

This is a free workshop with lunch provided

About the Workshop:

Do you have a vision of what your later years will look like? Perhaps you see yourself travelling, playing with grandchildren or simply enjoying a happy, healthy life in your community. Making plans and decisions today will help you better prepare for tomorrow so you can achieve your goals in your life-long journey.

This interactive workshop will prompt you to think about your future well-being in topic areas such as your health, finances, housing, transportation and social connections to help you make the most of later life.

Featuring a special Keynote Presentation from Dr. Marleen Morris, Associate Director at the University of Northern BC's Community Development Institute.

How to Register:

- <http://tinyurl.com/fraserlake>
- Call Autumn Services at 250-699-0056
- Email michelle@bchealthycommunities.ca

Who Should Participate?

Adults of all ages, caregivers and people who work with older adults are invited to participate in this engaging dialogue.

If you are interested in:

- Developing a plan to help you have a healthy, happy aging journey;
- Learning about resources and information to help actualize your plans; and
- Connecting with new people in your community

Then Register Now!

Presented by BC Healthy Communities Society (BCHC) in collaboration with Autumn Services.
This initiative is supported by the Government of British Columbia